Action Plan: my own steps towards enhanced Resilience

Dr Eleni Tzelepi-Giannatou, ACC, is a seasoned professional, well-known in the field of resilience, with over 25 years of experience in education, stress & resilience. As a Senior Associate of Treasure Lab since 2013, she has designed Resilience & Train The Trainer programs, while regularly facilitating and coaching executives and managers in solution focused coaching and management development programs.

She has conducted extensive research in the field of stress and coping in collaboration with European research institutes, focusing on stress management and resilience in the family and schools and has presented papers in many national and international psychology conferences.

With an MA in Psychology and Education from the University of London, Institute of Education and a PhD in Educational Psychology, investigating the effects of stress in adolescence, she has had an interesting professional journey. Her multifaceted professional experience started from teaching in private schools, serving as a Special Needs Evaluation Counselor at the Pedagogical Institute of the Greek Ministry of Education and moving towards counselling and coaching executives, families and children, while also holding public speeches on Resilience, Stress Management and related topics.

For the last twenty years she has been supporting public and private schools with specialized programs on communication skills, classroom management and stress management. In 2012, she started a project on Raising Resilient Children with great success, organising workshops for parents and teachers, as well as offering relevant workshops/programs for organizations.

She is a member of the International Coaching Federation (ICF), the British Psychological Society (BPS), the Hellenic Psychological Association (ΕΛΨΕ), the International Association of Applied Psychology, the European Society of Developmental Psychology and the Stress and Anxiety Research Society.
